SUBJECT: Highly Qualified Teacher Reports for 2006-2007, 2007-2008, 2008-2009

The No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 (NCLB) requires each school district to publicly report progress of the district and its campuses toward meeting the highly qualified (HQ) teacher requirements.

To report our progress toward each yearly goal the chart compares the data reported by Andrews ISD to the state annual targets.

If our district fails to meet one or more of the targets for two consecutive years, the Texas Education Agency (TEA) is required by statute to provide technical assistance in the development of an improvement plan that will enable us to meet these objectives and that specifically addresses the issues that prevented us from meeting the objectives.
